Course Overview

The purpose of this online course is to introduce students to the basics of disaster preparedness and responding to disasters, and to build a base for further development in responder training. The course provides training and resources for a basic understanding of the Incident Command System (ICS) and National Incident Management System (NIMS). Also included is disaster preparedness training to support animal owners, livestock farmers, and care providers as well as guidance for emergency management personnel in preparing community disaster plans that include animals. The overall objective is to make the student compliant with the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) minimum responder credential requirements and to broaden the scope of the student's view of disaster management to include animal preparedness in community planning and emergency response.

Course Objectives

Upon successful completion of the course, students should be able to:

1. Be compliant with the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) minimum responder credential requirements
2. Operate efficiently during an incident or event within the Incident Command System (ICS).
3. Describe the ICS organization appropriate to the complexity of the incident or event.
4. Use ICS to manage an incident or event
5. Demonstrate basic knowledge of NIMS
6. Understand special issues that emergency managers need to consider when incorporating animal-care annexes into their emergency operations plans
7. Provide sufficient information for emergency management officials and animal owners/caregivers to meet and develop meaningful and effective plans that improve the care of animals, their owners, and the animal-care industries in disasters.
8. Have a general understanding of issues that arise when disasters affect livestock including common causes and typical consequences.
9. Communicate effectively with farmers about causes, impacts, and consequences of disasters affecting livestock in their communities and how to mitigate the effects.

Course Evaluation and Grading

Exams (FEMA certificates of completion): There are six FEMA training courses, each with an online exam consisting of 25-50 multiple choice questions These six exams will be graded by the EMI and a passing score is 75% or greater. The exams are open book. The student will be notified by email whether they passed or not. The EMI will issue via email a certificate of course completion to students that pass the exam. These certificates can be saved as a PDF file and also printed. Students will need to present their certificates of completion to the course coordinator via submission as an attachment on the eLearning website under assessments. Each of the six exams is worth 7 points for a combined total of 42% your final grade. Certificates of completion are due before midnight on the dates listed in the chart below.

Case Studies and Discussion Board: There are three case studies, one in each part of the course. The cases are found in the text Case Studies in Public Health Preparedness and Response to Disasters. Each case study includes a written assignment and a minimum of one discussion board posting per case study per student. Each case study will have two “starter questions/topics” already posted and awaiting responses. You can choose to post in reply to one of these or you can post about something else related to the case study. Each of the three assignments is worth 8 points for a combined total of 24% of your final grade. Each discussion board posting is worth 2 points for a combined total of 6% of your final grade. Due dates for case study assignments and discussion board posting are listed in the chart below.

Final Project – You will be given the choice between two projects: creating a personal preparedness plan or creating a preparedness plan for an animal facility. The assignment will be due at the end of the semester after you have successfully completed the FEMA courses, and are designed for you to demonstrate an understanding of practical use of the knowledge gained in this course. No extra credit will be given for completing more than one final project. The final project is worth 28 points (28% final grade). The final project is due before midnight on the date listed in the chart below.

Assignment of letter grades for the course:

- A = 90-100%
- A- = 87-89%
